

How do I tell which distribution of PeakHour I have?

We offer PeakHour in two distributions: Mac Appstore and direct (via Paddle). These two distributions are largely the same, although there are some differences. For information on the differences, see What differences are there between the Mac AppStore and direct version?

To determine which distribution you have:

1. Click the PeakHour icon in the menu bar / status area or click the icon in the Dock.
2. In the main view, click the PeakHour icon to bring up the about window or choose PeakHour 4 > About ... from the menus.

3. In the About window, observe which version you have:
